"MASONIC BUILDING."

DO THE BEST YOU CAN.

Dame Fortune is a little jade,
So all the wise ones say,
And fame is but a will-o'-wisp
To lead mankind astray.
The world is but a naughty world,
And man is - only man;
But since we're here, our song of cheer
Is "Do the best you can."

We gaze upon the rainbow path
That seems to reach the sun,
And girded in our youthful strength
We start on the run;
But tumbling down the rocky steep
To where our course began,
We find the rule is: "Take it cool,
And do the best you can."

Dan Cupid is an impish wight,
As everybody knows,
And in his rage but another name
For double wants and woes.
And women - beneath his previous heart!
We're made as boys to man;
So what is life without a wife?
Go do the best you can.

Though wisdom is the greatest good,
We can't be always wise;
Though glory holds a deathless crown,
We all can't win the prize.
The fool may with his wits sit,
The coward seek the van,
We'll work our way from day to day,
And do the best we can.

The best you can! There is a place
That you alone can fill,
A heart that you alone can cheer,
A grief that you can still -
A life that you alone can live,
Be long or short its span -
The humblest life becomes great
When met as best you can.

SHARON.

A Brief Sketch of a Busy and Eventful Life.

THE "PALACE" OWNER.

INFORMATION OF INTEREST TO HIS NEVADA CONSTITUENTS.

(From the San Francisco Spirit of the Times.)

William Sharon was born on the 9th of January, 1822, at Smithfield, Jefferson county, Ohio, consequently he is nearly fifty-four years of age. His parents were Quakers, and traced their lineage back to the settlement of Pennsylvania by William Penn, when their English progenitor came to America. The boyhood of Mr. Sharon was quiet and uneventful. He lived at home and steadily attended the village school, except at brief intervals when he was engaged on his father's farm. At seventeen the passion for travel came upon him. The southern portion of his State was then new, and although steamboats were running on the Ohio river to Pittsburgh, they were insignificant crafts, and the trip was irregular. He purchased an interest in a flat boat and started for New Orleans. His experience in this line of mercantile business was unfortunate. In crossing the falls at Louisville the boat was wrecked, and serious loss and great inconvenience followed. His partners defrauded the youthful boatman, and shorn of the profits of his investment he returned finally from New Orleans, wearied and disgusted with human nature, to his native valley. After working for three years on the old homestead, in which his father gave him an interest,

HE ENTERED ATHENS COLLEGE

As a student, being then 21. At 23 he left college and went back to the farm. He diversified his labors with the study of law, reading for the first six months at home, and the next six months in the office of Edwin M. Stanton, afterward Secretary of War. Impelled thereto by failing health he went West as far as St. Louis, having in his pocket letters of introduction to Hon. Edward Bates of that city. After continuing his legal studies for a while longer, he was examined by Judge Krum of St. Louis and admitted to practice in the courts of Missouri. His health remained poor, and he was obliged to abandon the pursuit of law entirely. In 1844 he formed a mercantile partnership with his brother, Dr. John K. Sharon, and settled at Carrollton, Illinois, a small town about 50 miles southwest of Springfield. Dr. Sharon died some years since, but his sons continued merchandising in the same place. Mr. Sharon remained here until the first hectic flush of the California gold fever appeared in 1848. In the Spring of '49 he

CAME ACROSS THE PLAINS

In company with Colonel J. D. Fry. The two stopped for a while at Salt Lake City. In August of that year he arrived at Sacramento; at once purchased a stock of goods and commenced business. The floods of '49 and '50 swept his store out of existence, but did not ruin him entirely. In the Winter of 1850 he came to San Francisco, and began buying and selling real estate, having his office in a small frame building on Montgomery street, near Jackson, not now standing. His partner was Dr. Beverly Miller, who afterward died at Panama, when returning to his home in Kentucky.

AS A REAL ESTATE OPERATOR

Mr. Sharon's acts from this date come within the recollection of hundreds of persons now living in San Francisco. Almost since his arrival he has been thoroughly identified with the interests of the city. He erected the first building on North Beach, at the corner of Taylor and Chestnut streets, where it was thought that the chief shipping interests of the city might be concentrated. He contracted for a wharf at the foot of Taylor street, but it was never built, and soon after changing his mind in regard to the special harbor advantages of that locality, he transferred his interests elsewhere. He continued buying and selling real estate until 1864, at which time he had accumulated a fortune of $150,000.

Two years since, in connection with the much lamented Wm. C. Ralston, he projected the great extravaganza standing at the head of Montgomery street, "The Palace Hotel," probably the largest and grandest hotel in the world. And with indomitable energy coupled with the push and will of Mr. Ralston, this crowning masterpiece sprang into existence in the short space of eighteen months, and consumed in its building and furnishing the sum of three and a half millions of dollars.

HE GOES TO NEVADA.

In 1864 the Board of Brokers was organized. Mr. Sharon became a speculator in stocks, and in six months had lost all the property he had spent so many years in acquiring. He asked employment of the Bank of California, and was sent to Virginia, Nevada, to adjust some outstanding claims for that institution. He afterwards suggested to the Bank that an agency or branch should be established there. This was done, and he was placed at its head. Unlimited powers were granted to him, and he held the position for many years to his credit and the great profit of the parent house in San Francisco, finally leaving it at his own desire, and being succeeded by A. J. Ralston.

MR. SHARON AS A MAN OF BUSINESS.
His success as a mining stock operator is due mainly to his shrewd business tact and management. Mr. Sharon is a clever manager, quick to perceive and as quick to act.

SHARON'S "CROOKED" RAILROAD

From Reno to Virginia, is a source of wealth, and its construction will illustrate his business tact and sound judgment. The mills and hoisting works in and about the Comstock consume an immense amount of wood. This was hauled by wagon to Virginia and was a large item in the running expenses of the mine. Sharon saw at a glance that the transportation of the wood would more than pay the expenses of operating the road. He also saw where a large source of revenue would be derived from the carrying of ore from the mines to the mills on the Carson. He secured a subsidy of $500,000 from the people in aid of the road, constructed as much as the $500,000 went, then mortgaged the entire road for the amount necessary for its completion. In this way the road was built without costing Sharon a cent, and he still remains the owner of one half of the road, and rates his interest at $2,500,000. According to Sutor, Mr. Sharon's revenue from the railroad approximates $12,000 per day. Mr. Sharon is largely identified with the prosperity of San Francisco, owning the Cosmopolitan hotel and other valuable pieces of property. He is also connected with the building up of a new town on the Post tract in San Mateo county.

THE REPUTATION OF MR. SHARON ON CALIFORNIA STREET.

Is sans peur et sans reproche among those with whom he is associated in business. He is recognized as a man of strong common sense, possessing more than the average of natural ability. Educated as a lawyer, he has an advantage over many business men with whom he comes in contact. He never gives advice unless he means it, and none can complain of his using them as means to his own advancement, financially or otherwise. In conversation Mr. Sharon is affable and pleasant. Without any great degree of personal magnetism he still attracts men to his side and rules them in their councils by his strong will and pregnant ideas. In a crowd, Sharon would be noticed while more important personages would be passed by. He is below the average height, figure slight. His keen, bright, searching eye lights up the countenance of the man and is the index of his character. He dresses entirely in black, eschews diamonds or other ornaments, and is modest and prepossessing in demeanor.

THE DOMESTIC AND POLITICAL RECORD OF MR. SHARON.

In 1832 Mr. Sharon married Miss Maria Malloy, a native of Canada, and daughter of Captain Malloy, of the Canadian mercantile marine. She was a lady of great refinement and culture. She died in May last. He has always been a Republican in feeling, though his important private enterprises have kept him much out of the field of active politics. He was elected to the City Council of San Francisco in 1851, at a time when the city had large landed interests at stake. He assisted in organizing the Republican party in this State in 1855, and was active in support of the Union cause at the breaking out of the war of the rebellion, at a time when to be a Union man in California meant considerably more than it did in Massachusetts. He purchased the first 7 per cent. bonds offered in the market, contrary to the advice of many friends, who prophesied that they would never be paid.

At the time of the suspension of the Bank of California last August, Mr. Sharon with a generosity which will ever remain fresh in the memory of this people, promptly threw himself into the breach, saying he would sacrifice every dollar of his wealth rather than see the memory of his friend Ralston tarnished. Through him, in a great measure, the resuscitation of this grandest of California banking institutions was carried to its happy and successful issue. In the Winter of 1874 the Nevada Legislature elected him with an overwhelming majority to represent the State in the highest councils of the nation. He leaves for Washington in a few days to assume the duties of his station, and we predict for him here a future as bright and brilliant as has been his past successful life.

Street Etiquette.

The etiquette of the streets may be disposed of in a few words. The privilege of recognition is generally conceded to the lady, and when she has made her salutation, the gentleman responds by lifting his hat, and not merely touching the rim of it, unless he desires to be taken for a flunky. If only one of two gentlemen in company be known and saluted by a lady, both should bow. The converse of this, however, is not obligatory. Two ladies in company are not both called upon to bow to a gentleman, who is known only to one. A lady should rarely stop for, or be stopped in the street by a gentleman. The gentleman desirous of accosting a lady he may meet, should turn and join her in walking; and the lady, on the other hand, if the wish for an interview originates with her, should content herself with its expression by a gesture, without coming to a full stop in the thronged street. A gentleman walking with a young lady, unless she is related to him closely now, or prospectively, does not offer his arm, unless some sudden emergency may arise, which would seem to indicate that its support or protection is required. The left arm is ordinarily given, with the obvious reason that the gentleman's right may be free for the defense he proffers. The sandwiching of a gentleman between two ladies has always an awkward look and seems to be opposed to all fitness of things, by placing the man in his snug position, apparently under the care of his female companions. A gentleman may always leave another gentleman to join a lady, and the act justifies itself; but he ought not to quit his male companion for another of his own sex, without giving at the moment, or soon after, a plausible excuse for it. Although every gentleman should avoid officiousness of service to strange ladies—for example, handing them into a carriage, or offering them the side of the walk, to which they are entitled—he should be ready to give them a helping hand in the case of an emergency, to pick up whatever they may let fall, whether a pocket-handkerchief, or a tottering child, and finish the service with a polite bow.

DIVINE services will be held in the M. E. Church to-day, at 11 A. M. and at 7 P. M., also Sabbath school at 2 P. M. Rev. G. W. Fitch, Pastor.

Rev. W. J. Clark will preach at the Congregational Church, at eleven o'clock this morning, and in the evening at 7 o'clock. All are invited.

TOO THIN.

Mr. Stevenson, the self elected President of the Centennial Board of Managers, left Virginia City Tuesday night for Philadelphia, in order to make arrangements for the erection of his mill and the display of the specimens collected by Messrs. Whitehill and Stewart. Before leaving he intimated to the local editor of the Enterprise that the Centennial Commissioners at Philadelphia were disposed to act unfairly with Nevada; that they did not wish to give space enough for his, Stevenson's mill, and would only allow a little corner for the display of minerals. We are not at all surprised at the Centennial Managers for not wishing a dusty quartz mill erected in Machinery Hall, where Mr. Stevenson wants to put it, but we are astonished at his assertion that only room enough in one corner for a case of specimens will be given, for we know that there is a letter now in possession of the State Board of Managers from Prof. W. P. Blake, U. S. Centennial Commissioner, the gentleman in charge of the Smithsonian collection to be exhibited at Philadelphia, offering extra facilities—which no other State received—to Nevada, that is, room in the Government Building for the display of her minerals, and also all the extra advantages to which the Smithsonian Institute is privileged. But, we imagine, there would be no place for Mr. Stevenson in the Government Building, and hence he desires the people of Nevada to think that the Managers at Philadelphia are not disposed to act fairly with us.

"601."—This time it is the Vigilance Committee of Carson which has done its work wisely and well. The circumstances calling for this action is briefly told by our exchanges. Owing to the many conflagrations that have occurred in Carson for several months, the citizens aroused to a sense of duty, commenced a plan of operations for the detection of the fiends who have been trying to lay the town in ashes. They have kept vigilant watch over the city for over two months, and at last their efforts were partially crowned with success by the arrest of a man named Detling, who was placed in jail to await the action of the Grand Jury. He was indicted as charged, and after a trial he was convicted and sentenced to the State Prison for five years. During the trial he was placed on the stand and made a clean breast of it, implicating one Tom Burt, the man hung by the 601. Said Burt was with him in the firing of several buildings in Chinatown, which was their last operation. When they were arrested Detling said he went under protest to burn Chinatown, and when the work was being carried out he backed out and came up town and left Burt to finish his devilish work. But they were frustrated in their attempt, which led to their arrest. Burt was let go at liberty, and enjoyed the freedom of the city and Curry Engine House, where he roomed. The 601 aroused at this proceeding, determined to take the matter in their own hands and make an example of Burt. After reasonable deliberation they were fully satisfied that Burt was the right man, and accordingly Thursday night he was visited by about fifteen masked men at the Curry Engine House, and taken from there and carried to the graveyard, about half a mile from town, and hanged to the beam of the gate leading into the yard. The action of the Carson Vigilance Committee must serve as a warning. There are Committees in all of our principal towns and Virginia, Carson and Reno, will be liable to lose the presence of several suspicious characters from this date. The late fire in Reno was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, and the property owners have had all they want. If the thing occurs again Reno will have her man for breakfast, just like other towns.

The contract for grading the Southern Pacific Railroad to Fort Yuma, Arizona, has been let, and will be completed by July, 1876.

LATEST NEWS ITEMS.

The authorities of Southern and Lower California are joining forces to protect the country from robbers. A vigilance committee has also been formed and an appeal to the Governor for help is to be made. Affairs are in a bad state in that region.

A fool named Asa P. Perry committed suicide in San Francisco Friday because a faithless wife has deserted him.

The Chinese in San Francisco are purchasing arms and preparing to send reinforcements to their countrymen in Virginia City.

Affairs at Campo are very serious or else the people are badly frightened. A dispatch states that a band of Mexicans made an advance on that place Friday but retired on ascertaining that the Campopites were ready to receive them. The inhabitants of the town say they must have military protection or they will be compelled to abandon the place.

The trustees of the Howard University have elected ex-Indian Commissioner Smith President of the University.

There was a judicial election in South Carolina Friday. Ex-Governor Moses was one of the judges elected.

Charles O'Connor is so much better as to be believed out of danger.

In Huanta, Peru, twenty men were killed and many wounded in a riot on election day. (That shows as high a civilization as the United States can boast of.)

The laborers in Montreal, Canada, are in a suffering condition and serious trouble is threatened. A riot occurred in that city Friday.

A Bremerhafen paper asserts that there is another explosive package, similar to the one which recently occasioned such great loss of life at that place, on board the steamer Sailer, which left Bremerhafen, December 16, for Southampton and New York.

The Earl of Derby visited Edinburgh Friday and the Scots gave him an ovation.

A picked crew of the United States steamer Richmond have been beaten in a boat race for $2,000 in Callao harbor by a Peruvian crew. The boys complain that their boat was seventy pounds heavier than the Peruvian's.

An Incendiary Strung Up at Carson City.

CARSON, December 17—10:05 A. M. Burt the supposed ring leader in the incendiaries here for months past, was found hanging this morning over the entrance to the City Cemetery. The body was taken down about 10 o'clock, after being visited by hundreds of people. A coroner's inquest is now being held. On his breast was pinned a paper bearing the figures "601." On his testimony Detling recently got five years for arson. Burt, according to his own statement, was a desperate villain. There is great excitement.

CARSON, December 17—1 P. M.—About 6 o'clock this morning, as P. J. McMahon, grave digger at Sam Wright's Cemetery, was going to dig a grave, he was horrified to see the body of a man hanging from the cross bar forming the archway to the entrance of the cemetery. The body proved to be that of Tom Burt, supposed to have been the ring leader of incendiaries here for some time past. On his breast was pinned a paper with the figures "601." On Burt's testimony, at a recent trial for arson, young Detling was sentenced to five years in the State Prison, Burt turning State's evidence. The body was taken down by Coroner Meder and brought to Wright's Undertaking establishment. At 10 o'clock a jury was summoned at the place of hanging. The testimony is to be taken at 1 o'clock. Further particulars to-night. Great excitement prevails, and suspicious characters are making themselves scarce.

The Victoria Colonist says it is evident that all the drift which came into the straits after the sinking of the Pacific has gone far up, even to the gulf of Georgia. All the bodies with life-preservers on will drift on shore somewhere. What did not come into the Straits of Fuca will be found on the far west coast of Vancouver Island.

The schooner W. H. Meyer, which was reported lost by the Victoria papers, arrived at Seattle last week. She was blown 400 miles north of Cape Flattery by the heavy south-west gales that prevailed.

The Straits of Fuca and Gulf of Georgia are said to be full of wreckage from the several vessels recently lost.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company have reduced the rates of freight from Los Angeles to San Pedro from $5 per ton to $1, and fare from $2.50 to 50 cents.

It is reported that a fatal epidemic has broken out among the Tejon Rancho Indians, which has all the symptoms of a malignant type of typhoid fever.

Mrs. Wilson, who attempted to commit suicide by taking strychnine on Sunday last, at Los Angeles, has since died.

A race course is to be laid out at Santa Monica which, it is said, will rival anything of the kind in the State.

The bark Atlanta, reported lost, has arrived at Port Gamble, W. T.

ROBBING THE RAILROAD.—We understand that the railroad company have "let out" several of their oldest hands on the Truckee division on account of alleged peculations. Officers of the company who have given the subject considerable attention declare that some of the employees have not been content to divide fairly, but have hogged nearly all of the receipts. To avoid future theft, stringent rules and regulations have been made for this Division, and at Truckee no person is allowed to enter the caboose without first showing his ticket. At other places on the Division agents' salary have been reduced and they allowed a commission on all tickets they sell which, it is calculated, will make them rustle the livelier, and many persons will buy tickets instead of paying train fares, which are ten per cent. higher than ticket rates. It is said that in order to induce custom some of the conductors have made the rate even less than ticket rates. It is very likely that the C. P. will find the receipts of the Truckee Division increasing pretty soon.

ROLL OF HONOR.—The following is the roll of honor for the Intermediate Department. Standard 100: Geo. Hymers, 107; L. Wintermantel, 98; Guy Manning, 101; Geo. Coffin, 106; Geo. Knox, 95; Chas. Williams, 97; Wm. Webster, 95; Henry Harwood, 95; Bertha Ruhe, 96; L. Richey, 103; Irene M. Lott, 99; Mattie Chapman, 98; Annie Stalker, 96; Emma Cutting, 96; Armenia Grippen, 102; Julia Wintermantel, 105; Dora Graff, 96; Flora McKay, 100; Alma Smith, 104; Mary De Bell, 95; Katie Kinkead, 104; Alice Bristol, 98; Johanna McKernan, 99; Lottie Stanley, 105; John Hostetter, 95.

DISSOLUTION.—The copartnership heretofore existing between E. D. Judd and P. H. Mulcahy has been dissolved by mutual consent, E. D. Judd retiring from the firm. P. H. Mulcahy will continue the business as heretofore, collect all bills and pay all indebtedness of the Pioneer Soap Company. Which reminds us to remark that Mulcahy's soap is well liked in Reno, and our merchants patronize him liberally.

THE DOMINO PARTY.—The tickets of invitation for the domino party of the Home Circle Club have been issued, and the dance will surely come off at Dyer's Hall on Christmas Eve. The announcement of this event will be received with more than ordinary pleasure. Every effort will be made to render this the peer of any of its predecessors and our lady friends may as well begin to order their bewilderments, and gentlemen engage partners.

PERSONAL.—Mr. J. D. Hutton, a prominent member of the large wholesale house of Wellman, Peck & Co., of San Francisco, was in town yesterday. Mr. Hutton is well known in Reno, for here it was he wooed and won his wife, and, of course, he likes Reno very much.

Holiday Presents.

"If I were to pray for a taste which would stand me in stead under every variety of circumstances, and be a source of happiness and cheerfulness to me through life, and a shield against the ills, however things might go amiss, and the world frown upon me, it would be a taste for reading."

Now, as the Holiday season approaches, and old memories are revived and new ties renewed, what shall be our token of friendship at this season, when the suggestive Holly Leaf tells us of scenes and times of good will and rejoicing, when the Hollyberries turn brown and blush for joy of Christmas Tide? Shall they be shallow, trivial trinkets, useless and gaudy, or gifts of lasting worth and merit? Gifts to educate and to please; to cultivate the taste, heart, soul and mind? Or presents that turnish, and, lasting but for a time, leave only forgetfulness behind? What better gift is there than that of a good book?

"Books, we know, are a substantial world, both pure and good. Round these, with tendrils strong as flesh and blood, our pastime and our happiness will grow."

"There are books, and books, and books; books on various subjects, doctrines and theories; of Mechanics, the entrancing field of inventions; of Poetry, the image of man and nature; of Philosophy, the world of profundity; of Fiction, the world of imagination; of History, the wonder world of events; of Oratory, the world of sweet elegance; of Art, the broad field of endless beauty; of Music, the boundless firmament of harmony; of Divinity, the realm of the supernatural; of Religion, the shrine of devotion and benevolence."

In short, give Books. Give Books to thy friends, and let them in this present become denizens of all lands, co laborers in science, contemporaries of all ages, companions of artists, fellowcrafts in mechanism, rejoicers in fiction, singers in song, worshippers in devotion, poets in poetry, and in the recreation Books afford, expand every intelligent.

Where shall they be selected? The brief answer is: Call at S. M. JAMISON'S, where you can find Books adapted to all ages, and to meet every variety of taste. Should you fancy other gifts, then pass from the realm of Literature and examine their stock of Gold Pens, Gold and Silver Pencils and Cases, Photograph Albums, Autograph Albums, Secretaries, Writing Desks, Work Boxes, Portfolios, Stencils, with select views, Mirrors, Brushes, Combs, Toiletries, and fine Goods in endless variety, both ornamental and useful.

STILL THEY COME.—That well-known comic vocalist, Vivian, will appear at Dyer's Hall to-morrow evening, in conjunction with the De Angelis combination of dramatical and musical stars, including Miss Sallie De Angelis, the charming little vocalist and comedienne. For full particulars see small programmes. Don't forget the date. Vivian is immense, you all know full well.

At the Episcopal Church there will be divine service at 11 a. m. and 7 1/2 p. m. to-day Rev. Mr. Lucas officiating. Sunday school immediately after morning service. All are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Chas. Thurston will hereafter have charge of the town route of the JOURNAL, delivering the paper to subscribers, and to him alone will they be responsible for payment from and after this date. All persons owing to the present time will please call at this office and settle their accounts. Mr. Thurston will deliver the paper promptly, and no one will have cause for complaint on this score. If you wish the JOURNAL at your place of business or residence give him your order.

DR. GROVER is having remarkable success in surgical and general practice, with a constantly increasing business. He is not confined to any particular method, system, or ism, but is governed by the knowledge accumulated from careful study, and an extensive practice of over thirty years.

DRESSMAKING.—The Misses Vance are now located on Virginia street, next door to the photograph gallery. They will receive at their dressmaking establishment and make to order in the latest styles, all kinds of plain and fancy sewing.

H. M. Vesey is happy to inform the public that he has leased the Lake House, Reno, where he will be pleased to wait upon the traveling public, hoping to receive a share of their patronage.

WARNING.—Su Lee & Co. are prepared to wash and iron all kinds of goods at short notice, in a satisfactory manner. Give us a fair trial it will be as good as washing called for and returned.
